AT NEW BRITAIN. Not a Manufacturing Wheel Turned During the Services.

New Britain, Nov. 7.—In respect to be late Hon, Philip Corbin not a manufacturing wheel turned this afternoon during the bours when final services were being held over the remains of he great captain of industry. Busi-ess was entirely suspended. The uneral was the largest and most impressive held in the city. The South church, where the public services were held, was crowded, every available bit of space being taken. The fioral tributes were magnificent and words fall to properly describe their beauty, expressing as they did the high re-gard in which Mr Jorbin was held. This morning at 11 o'clock prayers were privately offered by the Revs. J. W. Cooper and Herbert A Jump at the Corbin residence, No. 84 Maple street, and afterwards the remains were taken to the South church. From 12 to 1.30 the public in general had an opportunity to view the remains, and during that hour and a last it is estimated that 14,000 persons looked upon the force of the desons looked upon the face of the de-ceased. The casket rested on a high test, surrounded by the wealth of flowers. The casket was begutful manageny and the trimmings were finished in gun metal.

finished in gun metal.

The church decorations were beautiful. The organ was draped in black and the back of the platform was banked with flowers and a screen of 175 dezens of white roses, the tribute of the workingmen. The platform was entirely concealed under the wealth of flowers. The congregation represented all welks of life. A section was reserved for the immediate family, and places were reserved for family, and places were reserved for the officers of the American Hardware the officers of the American Hardware comparation and representatives of manufacturing concerns of the city and business with which Mr. Corbin had been connected. Mayor Halloran and members of the city government occupied reserved places and special places were found for the oldest employes of P. & A. Corbin. There was a large delegation of the salesmen of the American Hardware corporation in attendance.

ttendance. The funeral service was very simple, the Rev. Dr. J. W. Cooper and the Rev. Herbert A. Jump took part. The Apollo quartette sang Rock of Ages and Jesus, Lover of My Soul. At the conclusion of the service the church quartets sang Heart Be Still. As the body was being carried out Professor Labels rendered Chopin's Funeral

Governor Haskell has said that other militia companies will be held in readiness.

Fearing conflict with federal authorities, many election officers have resigned. Hets are being made that Congressman McGuire republican, will be re-elected. Indications point to the defeat of the local option amendment by the prohibitionists.

HON. PHILIP CORBIN'S FUNERAL ENGINEERS OF 61 RAILROADS WILL TAKE STRIKE VOTE.

Roads Affected Are West, South and North of Chicago-Result Will Be Known by December 10th.

Chicago, Nov. 7 .- A strike vote wil be taken among engineers of sixty-one railroads west, south and north of Chicago, including the Illinois Central, following termination today of the ne-gotiations between the roads and grand officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, which had been in session since September 26. Differ ence in wage, increases, of approximately 7 per cent, and alterations of working conditions stood between the negotiaters.

Grand Chief, Warren S. Stone of the brotherhood, who has been leading the railroad men in their demands, said today he believed the strike vote would be unanimously in favor of suspension of work and that the enginemen would of work and that the enginemen would have expressed their desire by De-cember 10. Immediately thereafter, he said, a last opportunity would be giv-en the railroads to meet the workers, and if they ignored that opportunity within five hours every engine west of Chicago, on all branches of service, would be stilled, the fires drawn, and out of the thousands of cabs would step every driver on duty.

The whole question arose from the decision of the enginemen themselves, decision of the enginemen themselves, in convention at Detroit, Mich., last spring. In a three days' session it was decided that the existing wage scale, in effect since February, 1967, was unsatisfactory and that working conditions had been imposed by railshould be eliminated roads which should be eliminated. The grand officers were named to meet the railroads and present the de-

The general working conditions of which the engine drivers complain include, among other things, the follow-ing: Drivers of the Mallet compound engines, which do practically the work of two engines and entail a corres-pondingly greater responsibility and capability, receive the same wages as other drivers of high power engines of much lesser capacity. Engine drivers wish to be relieved of the toll of preparing their engines for travel and of caring for them after Switching time should be paid for Switching time should be paid for on a different basis.

The magnitude of the wage question is evidenced by a statement by the employes that the 7 per rent, wage difference now standing between the drivers and the railroads means approximately $2,800,000 a year. The cost of alterations of the working conditions, minor considerations in the diffions, minor considerations in the conference, would be less than $500,-600, it was asserted.

John Wesley as a Physician and Some of His Remodies.

It is not generally known that John Wesley in one of his brief intervals of leisure published a sort of medical vade mecum called not inappropriately "Primitive Physic." It was first published in 1747, and it ran into at least twenty-four editions. The author was greatly surprised there was so swift and large a demand for it. In the later editions he was able to add the word "Tried" to certain remedies the virtues of which he had meanwhile found opportunities of testing. After five years' careful trial and not withstanding the objections of the learned he recommends for the ague "to go into the cold bath just before the cold fit." but omits to say how to time the coming of the fit. To prevent apoplexy use the cold bath and drink only water. If this proves useless and a fit should declare itself you have only to "put a handful of sait with a pint of cold water and if possible pour it down the throat of the patient," To cure asthma "take a pint of cold water every morning, washing the head therein immediately after." Wesley gives four ways of curing old age-"take tar water morning and evening" or "a decoction of nettles" or "be electriffed daily" or "chew cinnamon daily and swallow your saliva." The two great panaceas in the Wesleyan doctrine are the use of cold water and the use of electricity, and at the end of the book are columns of every sort of disease which may be overcome by these simple expedients.-St. James'

WANTED A JOB.

Therefore He Did His Best to Please the Manager.

A certain playwright relates how a manager was much anneyed by the persistent applications for a "job" made by a peculturly seedy individual. Time and again the manager had referred this person to his stage manager. "See Blank," he would say, interrupting the man's attempts to set forth his qualifications.

At last the applicant did succeed in gaining audience of Blank, the stage manager, who was in the theater for the time "sizing up" candidates for the chorus.

There were, of course, a number shead of him, but this fact did not prevent the seedy man from interrupt ing the stage manager between songs with requests for a tob. Exasperated, the stage manager at length turned to the planist and ordered him to play an accompaniment for the stranger. With considerable hesitation the seedy person raised what voice be had in song. The result was bad as bad could be. The manager suddenly commanded him to desist.

"What do you mean by this tomfoolery?" he demanded, disgusted. "You certainly have confounded impudence to ask me for a job!"

"Look here!" said the stranger, angry in turn. "I don't claim to be able to sing. In fact, I don't want to sing. I'm a stage carpenter. I only sang to please you because you insisted on it!"-Pearson's Weekly.
